Dr. Deas, Surgeon at Soldiers' Home, Has Encounter With Commandant Peay.

SEVERAL BLOWS

Difficulty Grew Out of Accusations-Investigation Will be Made.

Commandant A. C. Peay and Dr. Willlam A. Dess, surgeon of the Soldiers' Home, yesterday afternoon had a vigorous encounter, which grew out of a discussion of matters pertaining to the hospital, of which Dr. Deas is in immediate control. Several blows were passed. Dr. Deas was at the hospital supervising the sending out of the clothes for wash, when the commandant questioned him concerning the methods used and it is alleged made several insulting remarks, is alleged made several insulting remarks, whereupon Dr. Deas asked for an apology, which, it is said, was refused. Words passed and then, according to the story. Caplain Peay struck the surgeon, after which they clinched and several blows were passed. Several veterans witnessed the affair and separated the officers. Colonel James T. Gray, a member of the Board of Visitors, was at the Home at the time of the allercation and witnessed the closing of it. It is said that an investigation will be made immediately and both of the gentlemen will appear before the Board and teatify, as well as the veterans who witnessed the affair.

Dr. Deas's Statement.

Dr. Deas's save out the following statement in regard to the altercation when seen last night:

"After a business conversation between Captain Peay and myself in the rear of the hospinal this afternoon about 4:30, he became so insulting in manner and languinge that I demanded an applogy. He refused to give it. I then said to him, 'You have refused to apologize for your insulting languinge, and, I, therefore, consider you a coward. He then struck me in the face. I returned the blow and several others passed between us, before we were separated by lystanders.

"After being separated, he said as ne was led away, "I will kill him." No further words were passed between us."

Captain Peay refused to be seen last night concerning the matter, sending word that he had nothing at all to say on the subject.

word that he had nothing at all to say on the subject.

Dr. Deas is a paralytic, having suffered a slight stroke of paralysis on the right side several years ago, and is a man small of status and rather frail, while Captain Peay is of medium weight and height. Neither of them substanted injuries of importance, but both were brilised about the face.

Gentry Brothers' trained animal show, whose annual visit to Richmond are always anxiously looked forward to by the boys and the girls and their fathers and mothers, begun at two days' engrement at Main and Vine Streets yesterday.

Lere was a liberal patronage at both performances and the lowers of highcars annsement were well repaid, for never since Gentry Brothers have been coming to Richmond has there been displayed such an amount of genuine encusiasm as was shown yesterday.

Bince the last visit of the Gentrys,

Mr. Taggarl home and congratulated him and the party upon his selection to conduct the national campaign.

In responding, Mr. Taggart said:
"In accepting the position of chairman, I fully realize the responsibility that comes with it, and I shall use every honorable means within my power to conduct the campaign: in such a manner that no friend of mine will have cause to regret my selection.
"I desire, however, to call your attention to the fact that it is impossible for a national heirman alone to win a victory.
He must ave the assistance and co-

> ESOPUS, N. Y., August 2.—It is expected that the notification ceremonies will take place about 2 P. M. on Wednesday of next week. The Notification Committee will probably come to Rosemount on a chartered steamer rather than by special train, though arrangements to that end are not yet complete. It is not yet settled how large a company will be present at the ceremonies, or who will be invited.

No visitor of political importance aside from E. C. Wall, of Wisoconsin, are looked for at Rosemount within a day or two, though there are standing invitations to Democrats of note in various parts of the country who may come here any day. Among these are National Committeeman Clayton, of Alabama; Mayor Patrick A. Collins, of Boston; Mayor Carter H. Harrison, of Chicago; Representative W. R. Hearst, Richard Olney, of Massachusetts; Senator Pue Gorman, Senator Joseph W. Balley, Judge George Grag, of Dalaware; Senators Daniel and Martin, of Virginia, and many others of national reputation.

Judge Parker refused to-day to confirm the report that he had acepted the invitation of Norman E. Mack, the national committeeman 'rom New York State, to be, with Mrs. Farker, his guest at the St. Louis Exposition on New York State day, October 4th. There is reason, however, to believe that he might make such a trip as this without violating the principle upon which he has based his determination not to make any speech making tour. The occasion is not to be making tour. The occasion is not to be political.

The new railway station and other improvements at Esopus, being made by the West Shore Railway, will be completed before the notification. Storekeepers and residents are preparing to make August 10th the greatest day in the history of Esopus. A large supply of bunting and flags has been procured for decorative purposes.

Around certain geographical centers there seems to have been attracted by the mere magnetism of kindred qualities, a greater cellection of the exponents of the advanced principles of business than are found to exist olsewhere. In such places the example set by the leaders is quickly followed and the natural result is found in the highest stages of business development, where the man in the counting room or at the head of the department ranks justly with the jurist and the drotor.

As an example of one of these communities there may be mentioned the city of Lynchburg, Va. As a point on the geographical map it may seem to resemble many other cities, but as a point on the husiness plat of the nation it ranks way up with the leaders. Here the science of business is practiced by professionals purely and the primary principles of trade have been ramified until perfection is attained and the intricacles of supply and demand satisfactorily solved. pany, said: "The strike may be said to be near an end. At the rate we are securing new employes it will be only a matter of a short time now until everything will be in normal condition with us once more. The old employes' places have been filled so promptly that very few of the strikers will be able to get back their old places, and those who do will come back as individuals."

Slump Is Expected.

Despite these declarations of the packers' representatives, the pees at the stock yards are filled with cattle and hogs that buyers make no bid for in the market. According to commission, men, there are thousands of hold-overs in all departments of the yards, and the cattle in the pens will not all be out of the way by Saturday night. In the face of all this shippers are constantly forwarding stock to Chicago, and the indications to-night are that there will be a decided slump in prices of live stock.

It is on this giate of things and what further information their own men have been able to secure that the strike leaders base their claims that the packers are still badly crippled, notwithstanding statements to the contrary. A considerable number of strike-breakers who arrived in Chicago to-day were dissuaded from going to work. Slump Is Expected.
